Certification Mark Text

The mark is to be used to indicate that specific products, in association with which it is used by licensees of the owner of the brand, comply with the following standards : a) only products from farms and producers from the Charlevoix region are eligible; b) certified vegetable products are 100% produced in the Charlevoix region; c) certified animal-origin products come from animals raised in the Charlevoix region (slaughtering and cutting outside of the region are however allowed) ; d) the operation management programs must demonstrate, through traceability, that the products identified or commercialized as certified are not mixed with uncertified products of the same type (e . G. Mixing certified pork with uncertified pork); e) processed products have to be made from over 50% certified ingredients from the Charlevoix region; f) the animals benefit from a feeding program that is adapted to include a maximum of grains and feed from the Charlevoix region and to encourage the regional know-how; g) records make it possible to retrace, at all times, the origin of the certified products by means of acending and descending traceability. The Charlevoix region is the geographical area including farmlands in Charlevoix's two RCMs (Charlevoix and Charlevoix-Est). As far as vegetable production is concerned, cultural practices must respect the environment, limit pollution (ground, air, water), ensure resource preservation, and preserve biodiversity. Everything must be done to ensure the quality and safety of products harvested. As far as animal-origin production is concerned, more specifically, the following species of animals must be born in the province of Quebec and arrive in Charlevoix by the time they reach the age or size indicated in parentheses : pork (30 days), beef (160 pounds), dairy cows (first calving), poultry and duck (5 days). Goats, sheep, rabbits, and emus must be born and raised in Charlevoix up until slaughtering. Animal feed must consist of a minimum 50% of food from the Charlevoix region. A traceability and records system must be implemented in order to verify the origin, farm lifecycle, feeding, and slaughtering weight. For each lot of certified products packaged, there must be a record that associates the lot number on the final packages with the lot of the ingredients contained therein. Processes and recipes must be written and made available for on-site consultation by the designated certification organization.
